Teacher Pay Distribution Plan Opposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Committee of the Arkansas Education Association discussed Monday issues that the AEA and the state Education Department will present to the state legislature when it convenes in January.

The committee found opposition when it recommended that any new state funds for teacher salaries be distributed among school districts so that the districts least able to pay its teachers from local funds receive twice as much as the districts most able to pay teachers from local funds.

Sam Bratton, superintendent of schools at Earle, said the 2-1 ratio would not help shorten the gap between various districts in the state. He said average salaries varied up to $2,900 a year among districts in the state.

Leroy M. Gattin, superintendent of the Pulaski County School District, contended that they new funds should be distributed on a 3-1 ratio.

Gattin said that unless something is done now to start equalizing teacher salaries in the state, nothing would ever be done.

Robert E. Nix, a teacher at Fort Smith and chairman of the Legislative Committee, noted that the most serious education need in the state was money. He said the committee would recommend support of a $30

Edwin Cox, Public Relations Director, Lion Oil Division of Monsanto Chemical Company in El Dorado, presented an assembly program to the student body at Red River Vocational Technical School last week. His presentation, entitled "The ABC's of Public Relations," pointed out that everyone has public relations—good or bad—whether they like it or not, and he outlined methods for improving individual public relations.

This type program is made available to the students throughout the school year in an effort to impress on them the importance of a good working attitude, as well as actual skills and capabilities.

are shown to injure American markets.

Senate opponents, led by Walter Mondale, D-Minn., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., have threatened a filibuster to prevent a similar trade package from being considered on the floor. Backers hope to tie the package to a Social Security bill in the Finance Committee.

Opponents say such quotas would bring trade-war retaliation from other countries, particularly Japan and the European Common Market, and drive up U.S. consumer prices by protecting American-made goods from foreign competitors.

The Common Market countries alone could cut off $200 million in annual soybean exports, said the farm group, and jeopardize overseas markets for U.S. wheat and feed grains.

million increase in money for education during the coming year.

Another issue discussed was a proposal for a self-insurance program for the state's colleges and universities.

James N. Hughes of Warren, president of the state Association of School Administrators, told AEA members that his group would join the state Education Department, the Arkansas School Administrators and the AEA Legislative Committee in proposing a self-insurance program to the General Assembly.

Hughes said that a self-insurance program in North Carolina had been successful and saved the state millions of dollars.

tion for broader campaign reform. He said its terms might include:

—A limit on the period in which a candidate for office can advertise through any medium, starting perhaps six to eight weeks before an election.

—More stringent and comprehensive financial disclosure rules.

—If it proves feasible, an over-all limit on campaign spending. "We would have to have some formula, probably based on votes, possibly on population."

—A limit on candidate advertising in all media, not only radio and television.

—Possibly a provision under which a taxpayer, by checking a box on his return, could have $1 contributed to the party of his choice.

—A waiver of equal broadcast time requirements, to open the way for campaign debates, and possibly for free network time for the two major party presidential candidates in 1972.

The limitation on broadcast spending proposed in the vetoed bill was seven cents for each vote cast for the office involved in the prior election, or $20,000, whichever was greater.

AEA Asked to Lions Discuss Annual Yule Auction

Bypass the Tenure Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers asked the Arkansas Education Association Monday night to forego for the time being any attempt to pass legislation that would guarantee tenure to the state's teachers.

Speaking to the annual convention of the AEA, Bumpers said that a push for such legislation might detract from the effort to find more revenues to meet the state's needs.

He also urged the AEA to delay taking an unyielding position on school aid distribution formula legislation, which decides how state money is to be divided among school districts. The legislation always is a source of controversy in the General Assembly. Several methods already have been proposed for the coming biennium.

Bumpers said his administration would give top priority to developing "a more adequate educational program" for the state, but he said educational problems could not be isolated from other state problems.

He said he must develop a comprehensive program to meet other state needs and to find "more adequate financial sources" to fund the needs.

Bumpers did not say whether he would ask the legislature for new taxes, but he said that if more revenues are needed "your concentrated effort will be necessary."

He said that during his campaign against Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller he had promised to do his best to bring Arkansas teacher salaries up to the level of those of surrounding states. Bumpers said he still intended to try.

The governor-elect said he intended to make all economies in government that he could and determine on the basis of projected revenues how much money it will take to solve problems confronting the state and expand programs wherever necessary.

Whatever conclusion he reaches, he said, it would be after much careful deliberation.

Bumpers did not mention whether he would support the AEA's request for an additional $30 million in the next fiscal year for the public schools. He said during the campaign the request was "reasonable" but he did not commit himself to it.

Bumpers said any attempt to obtain passage of tenure legislation in 1971 might endanger "unity" needed in the search for additional state revenues.

On the school aid formula, Bumpers asked: "Compose your differences and strive for as much unit as possible."

considerable speculation in Monrovia that the invaders were rebellious Guineans trying to overthrow their Marxist president. It was thought quite likely that such a force had been trained and equipped in neighboring Portuguese Guinea since Toure lets opponents of the Portuguese colonial regime use his country as a base.

However, Portugal denied all connection with the attacks on Conakry.

Guinea claimed that Portuguese warships landed hundreds of mercenaries Saturday night at Conakry, and that many Guineans and a number of Europeans were killed in the next two days of fighting. Radio Conakry said the invaders were repeatedly driven off, but there was no word on casualties among the invading force.

Two Belgians arriving in Brussels said the invasion "appeared to be a complete failure." But that was before Radio Conakry reported landings during Monday night.

An official of Sabena, the Belgian airline, said the situation in Conakry was "very confused," and the airport was heavily guarded by Guinea troops armed with Chinese guns and wearing Soviet-type helmets.

He said there was considerable fear because mercenaries were believed to be hiding in and around the city.

Another Belgian on the same plane said he was awakened Saturday night by shots and bursts of machine-gun fire. He said Guinean forces frequently fired at each other in the confusion.

Job Safety Issue Before the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A labor-management struggle, already fought out in the Senate, opened in the House today as the administration sought to amend the first nationwide job safety bill.

As approved by the House Education and Labor Committee, the labor-supported bill directs the secretary of labor to set, monitor and enforce safety standards for about 80 million workers.

But Reps. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., and Robert Sikes, D-Fla., put together the White House-backed substitute package calling for a five-member board to handle safety standards and a three-member appeals commission appointed by the president.

Industry and business also supported the substitute, saying the original bill gave too much power to the secretary of labor and failed to protect property rights.

Calls Gillham Dam Work Stop Disastrous

By ROBERT SHAW Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. Atty. W. H. Dillahunty said today that the issuance of a preliminary injunction to stop work on the Gillham Dam project would set a precedent that would be "disastrous."

Dillahunty said the project was authorized by Congress in 1958, that money had been appropriated for the work and "to simply come into court and with one sweep of the pen, your honor, I do not think is a proper exercise of the court."

Dillahunty addressed his remarks to U.S. District Judge G. Thomas Eisele at the outset of a hearing on whether Eisele should temporarily enjoin work on the construction of the dam across the scenic Cossatot River in West Arkansas. A trial is to be held later on whether the Army Engineer project should be permanently enjoined.

The injunction is sought by several wildlife, ecology and conservation groups.

Richard S. Arnold of Texarkana, attorney for the plaintiffs, argued that the project violated provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, but Dillahunty said other courts have held that the law was not retroactive to current projects.

Arnold said, however, that while preliminary work has begun at the dam site, the contract for the impoundment itself had not been let. Bids are scheduled to be advertised next month for the embankment work. The entire project is about 60 per cent complete.

Wellborn Jack Jr. of Shreveport, La., is a boating enthusiast, who said he had boated and fished the Cossatot numerous times, testified that the dam would "drastically change and eliminate" the ecology of the area. He said the reservoir that would be created by the dam would "grossly upset" the environment.

Jack narrated a film of the river taken by Martin Beck of Texarkana, a building contractor, and shown to the court. Jack said that from a canoe cholera laboratory in Dacca and Army Col. Rex Davis, but there were no Pakistani supervisors to keep the throng in check.

As the aircraft landed, their rotors whipped up an almost unbearable stench from bloated cattle carcasses decomposing in the mud. Hundreds of refugees encircled the helicopters. Some swarmed toward a small observation craft which had packets of food in litter racks outside, and two were cut by the still rotating blades.

Farland's aides tried to form the anxious Pakistanis into single lines so the ambassador could make the handouts. The first two came forward nicely and got a sack of rice, molasses and salt along with an ambassadorial handshake. Then the crowd rushed forward, tearing at the food packages inside the aircraft as Farland retreated.

The 200 ten-pound bags of food were hurriedly unloaded, and three 'copters returned to Majidi for more supplies while Farland hovered above the crowd. The three returned, dropped their loads from about 15 feet above the milling people, who fought over the sacks dropped.

The helicopters made 13 trips in all.

Eighteen helicopters from the United States, Britain and France are now ferrying supplies to stricken areas, and others are expected from West Germany and Saudi Arabia. The Pakistani army has one helicopter in the operation.

Vice Adm. S.M. Ahsan, East Pakistan's governor, said today the military regime has turned down his urgent request for more relief helicopters. The army's aircraft are stationed in West Pakistan, 1,000 miles across India from the devastated area.

Rock Tossing Demonstration at Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Rock-throwing demonstrators broke 49 windows at Stanford University Monday night in a protest of the U.F. bombing of North Vietnam last weekend.

No arrests or injuries were reported.

About 200 persons on the 11,000-student campus attended a peaceful, one-hour rally at which speakers denounced the Indochina war in general and the bombing in particular.

As it was ending about 9 p.m., someone shouted "Off pig!" and "Trash Aero-Astro!"

A crowd, which witnesses said included former students and junior high school pupils as well as university students, then marched to the Aero-Astro Sciences building.

Witnesses said 49 windows were broken in the building and five others.

The demonstrators then dispersed. Witnesses said about 100 were in the rock-throwing crowd with some 30 following.

New School Lunch Policy at Saratoga

Saratoga School District recognizes the need for helping meet the needs of its students. The Saratoga School serves a well-balanced nutritious lunch each school day.

The charge to students who can pay is 35 cents per day or $1.50 per week in the elementary school and 35 cents per day or $1.50 per week in the high school.

However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide these lunches free of charge or at a reduced price to those children determined by the supervisor to be unable to pay this full price for their lunches.

Families who feel that their children may be eligible for free or reduced price lunches are urged to apply. Copies of the application form were sent home in a letter to parents earlier this week. Additional copies may be obtained from the school. The completed application signed by an adult member of the family should be sent to N. R. Coulter, Saratoga High School, Saratoga, Arkansas. Applications will be reviewed promptly and within three days the family will be notified in writing as to the decision made.

All information provided on the application will be held in strictest confidence. Decisions for approval will be based on the following scales.

Children are eligible for free lunches if their total family income is below: Family of one - $1,200; two - 1,800; three - 2,400; four - 3,000; five - 3,500; six - 4,100; seven - 4,600; eight - 5,100. Families with larger numbers are eligible for reduced price lunches.

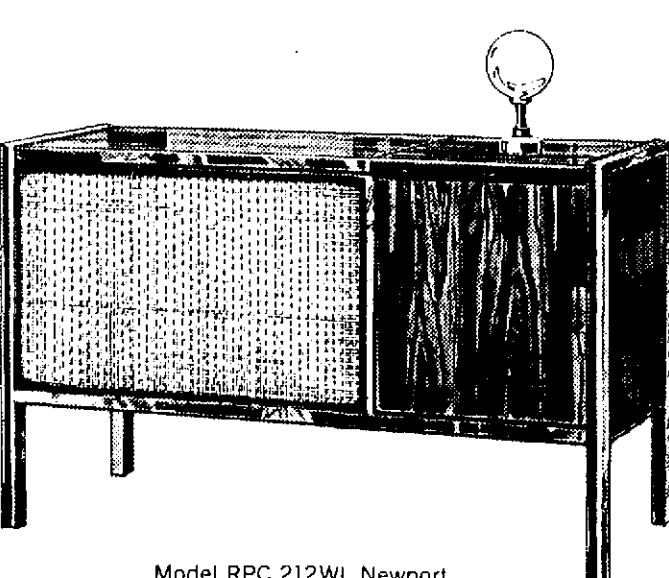

Any unusual circumstances or hardships which effect the family's ability to pay for the school lunches may make the family eligible to apply.

If the family is not satisfied with the decision made on their application, it may be request a hearing to appeal the decision. This request may be made orally or in writing to M. H. Peebles, Superintendent of Saratoga Schools, who will review the application.

Kennedy then asked "whether the American people ought to be prepared for other strikes such as this? Are we going to have other kinds of surprises similar to this?"

Dole said he didn't know but contended the raid was "successful in demonstrating American concern." He added: "Some of these men have been languishing in prison for five years."

3-Year B.S. Degrees Are Under Study

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Study for a bachelor's degree should be reduced to three years by having college-level courses taught in high school, the Carnegie Foundation Commission on Higher Education recommends.

The one-year reduction would save colleges $3.5 billion to $5 billion a year, the commission said in a 55-page report issued Monday.

Commission Chairman Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California, said the report seeks to correct the "aimlessness of what is now called general education" and to meet the needs of older students, women and minorities.

"We think too much time is being spent by young people in higher education," Kerr said. "We think that the high schools can take on a good deal more than they are now doing."

Kerr said the report was approved unanimously by the 18-member commission of educators and industrialists which includes five university presidents.

"Students should be given the option of taking some time off before or during college without being called dropouts or failures," Kerr said. "Our GIs came back to school and turned out to be some of the best students we ever had."

The commission also recommends that all high school graduates, regardless of grades, be able to attend two years of col-

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Lucille Ball was Jack Benny's guest star on his special last week. This week Jack returned the visit. In the glittering echelons of television, stars are more likely to swap guest shots than work for salaries.

Benny's outing on "Here's Lucy" Monday was neither Miss Ball's finest half hour nor Benny's. But two skillful professionals injected some comedy magic into rather obvious situations.

Lucy was sent to Benny's house for some secretarial work, which turned out to be an account of the women in Jack's life. The rest was flashbacks, with Lucille playing all the women including his mother.

Arte Johnson's march jokes about Lucy, made on "Laugh-in" when her NBC competition was at the top of the ratings seemed to be gloating. Now they have a hollow sound since Lucy has bounced back to the top segment of the popularity chart. Her show is sixth in the latest Nielsen ratings, while "Laugh-In" is 14th.

"Coogan's Bluff," a two-year-old theatrical film, was NBC's Monday night movie broadcast, a well-done police story with a wild motorcycle chase for a climax. It was of interest for a couple of reasons.

The story, about a tough, cool Arizona deputy sheriff in New York to return a prisoner, was the inspiration for the six-part "McCloud" of NBC's "Four-in-One" series. But where Coogan, played with stony face and few words by Clint Eastwood, suggested ice and steel, Dennis Weaver's McCloud was a gentle, almost diffident man. And the rough edges were smoothed off for TV.

In its original form, "Coogan's Bluff" was an extremely violent film with explicit sex scenes. A notice at the beginning of the television broadcast noted it had been "revised and edited."

The explicit scenes were, of course, out, but much that remained was implicit. Judging from the jumpiness and short takes, two fight scenes seemed to have been cut sharply.

The final product suggested that a perceptive film editor can turn a theatrical shocker into something close to family entertainment without much injury to the story.

It will be interesting to see what is done by the educational network to the motion picture version of Peter Weiss' "Marat-Sade" when it is broadcast Dec. 10. The play was considered daring because of its nudity and strong language.

Most popular television programs during the week ending Nov. 15 were ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." and the "Movie of the Week" production called "Tribes," followed by CBS's "Gunsmoke."

Film Business at Low Ebb

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Charlton Heston, president of the Screen Actors Guild, says world motion picture production is at its "lowest ebb since I can remember."

At the annual meeting of guild members Sunday, Heston said high interest rates and foreign competition "have made the Hollywood studios and feature production as we once knew it a barren area."

lege or vocational school at any time of their lives.

The commission said an "educational security" program might be added to Social Security, to be paid through payroll taxes on employers and employees.

The commission also recommended:

—Granting of more academic credit for nonacademic job training, regardless of the student's age.

—Establishment of two new graduate degrees, master of philosophy and doctor of the arts.

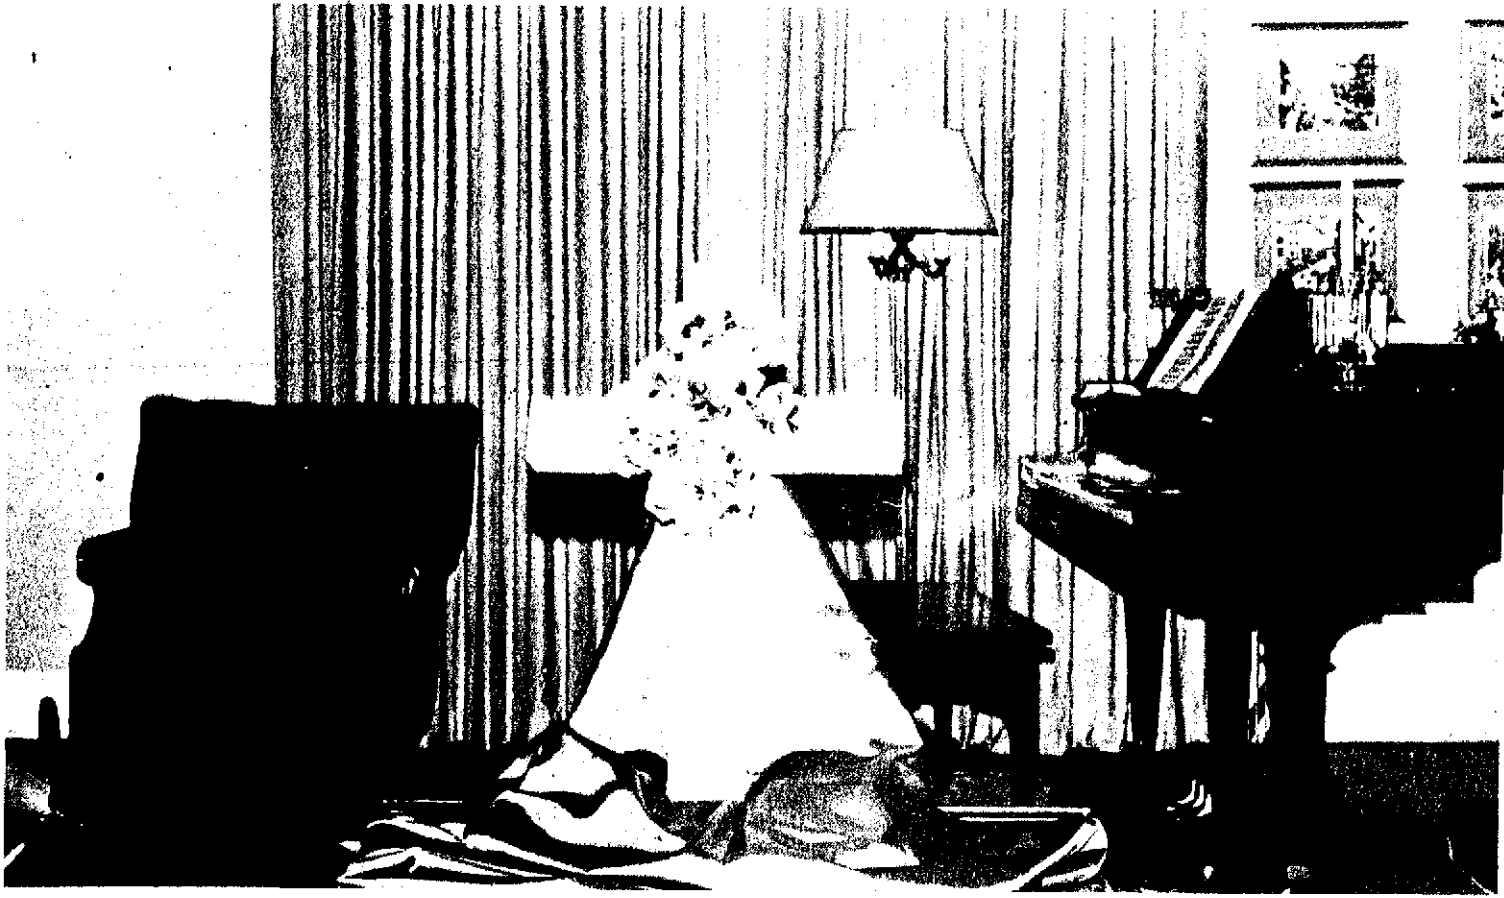

—Creation of more short-term college programs, night and summer courses for which degrees or certificates would be awarded.

—Less reliance by employers on degrees and more on new testing and interview techniques.

The report is one of a series financed by a $5 million grant from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

WHICH WAY TO TURN?

Dear Helen:

I voted for the first time this year and I still don't know if I voted right or not. How is an ordinary person to tell, what with all the stuff that comes out for and against every darn candidate?

I read one newspaper, or hear one paid ad on TV, and I think "This is the one." Then there's the rebuttal, with nasty slams and I wonder, "Can this be so?"

Most of the candidates supported SOME of my ideas, and most of them didn't measure up in other areas. Then, after they're elected, they don't measure up at all sometimes.

How can we get unbiased opinions and true facts, especially if we're new at voting? — YOUNG U.S. CITIZEN Dear Citizen:

Enrolling in a political science class helps, for there you get the history of politics, study philosophies of the various parties, and learn about behind-the-scenes ploys.

We vote wisely or unwisely in proportion to how much time we're willing to spend on research. We aren't always right in our assessments, but we'll come closer if we listen to (and read) all sides, weed out as much puff-stuff as possible, and choose candidates for their integrity as well as their aim. — H.

Dear Helen:

Most girls wouldn't think this is a problem, but it is to us. My friend and I are too popular with boys! Both of us have gone steady about seven times since July. So the girls are jealous of us!

We aren't boy crazy, but we don't have any friends except BOYS. No matter what we do, the guys cheer us on, and that turns the girls off. Neither of us has gone farther than "first base," but rumors are started about us being pregnant, etc.

We aren't pretty, at least we don't think so. We even try to discourage boys but they keep coming back. Helen, what's your advice about getting rid of boy friends and gaining girl friends? — TWO EIGHTH GRADERS

Dear Two:

Your biggest problem is — you're eighth graders. I mean you've reached that Age-13 Plateau when most girls are very unsure of themselves, therefore liable to resent those who succeed where they fail.

Perhaps you've matured faster than others. At any rate,

Gregory Peck Gets Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Gregory Peck is this year's winner of the Screen Actors Guild annual award for "outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting profession."

Charlton Heston, installed Sunday for a sixth one-year term as guild president, presented the 54-year-old Peck with the award, a sculpture of black onyx and bronze.

"Near to the Heart of God" was the theme of the memorial service at the Leslie Huddleston Unit 12, American Legion Auxiliary, Tuesday, November 17 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Branch. Mrs. Dean Murphy presented a service of tribute to five deceased members of the Unit, Nell Coffee, Grace Cook, Lucille Sexton, Pearl Holloway, and Miriam O'Neal.

Mary Jane Reyenga and Barbara Jackson sang the hymn, "Near to the Heart of God," as a duet, accompanied at the piano by Marynell Branch. As Mrs. Charles Taylor read the five eulogies, Karen Allen and Anna Cox placed a bouquet of bright red memorial poppies on a beautifully draped white cross. Mrs. Vic Cobb, chaplain, closed the service with prayer.

Mrs. Joe Jones, president, conducted a business meeting after the memorial service. An excellent report was presented by membership chairman, Mrs. Charles Taylor, who said that 142 memberships had been received with 50 of those new memberships.

Patti Ann Murphy was credited with 21, including 15 mothers and daughters and 6 fathers. Mrs. Joe Jones had 20 new members, including 4 grandmothers and 11 granddaughters. The latter list was entered in the state contest for granddaughter memberships which closed November 10. Winners will be announced December 1.

As the newly appointed rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Vance Marcum collected aprons and pillow cases for the VA Christmas Gift Shop to be held in Little Rock December 7, 8, and 9. Any other contributions to the Gift Shop should be taken to Joe's City Bakery before the mailing date, December 1.

Members were urged to attend the Fall Conference at the Texarkana Post 58 Sunday, November 22 at 2 p.m. for all Posts and Units in District 12. Treasurer Mrs. David Frith reported several gifts to the scholarship fund in memory of Mrs. Miriam O'Neal and Will M. Rutherford, Jr.

In Miami, a woman sued the city for damages after her heel caught in a manhole cover. In short order, the city bought 500 new manhole covers with smaller holes.

Nonskid rug pads began to sell better in Philadelphia after a home owner was held liable to a visitor who slipped on a loose rug.

A major chemical company, concerned about possible lawsuits, reexamined hundreds of its labels and found 60% of them dangerously inadequate. All were changed for the better.

In Santa Monica, hundreds of rotting trees were chopped down because of a court ruling on liability for falling branches.

These examples illustrate the positive side of an oft-maligned, oft-underrated social institution: the damage suit. As a spur to safety, as a stimulant to the prevention of accidents, the damage suit has an influence that would be hard to exaggerate.

True, only a limited number of individuals or companies ever face the ordeal of actually defending themselves in court. But the effect of these cases is enormously multiplied by the legal doctrine of "precedent."

According to this doctrine, each case sets a standard of behavior which will apply, in varying degree, whenever a similar situation arises again. Each finding of liability is a warning to one and all that similar conduct in the future may well result in similar liability.

Of course, the damage suit (like many valuable medicines) can have unfortunate side effects. A playground director, nervous about the possibility of being sued, removed every swing, slide, and carousel from the premises. Doctors, fearful of malpractice claims, may "play safe" by avoiding the use of new treatments which their professional judgment would approve.

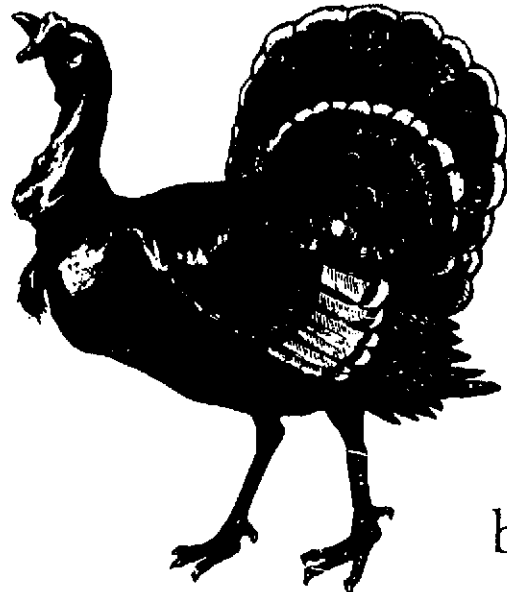

But such things do not change the basic virtue of the damage suit: the subtle, steady pressure it exerts toward careful conduct.

When a golfer behind you hollers "Fore!", he may be motivated by a sense of etiquette. Or he may be motivated by simple kindness. But he may also be motivated—very powerfully—by visions of winding up at the target end of a lawsuit.

A THANKSGIVING THOUGHT...

There is one day that is ours. There is one day when all we Americans who are not self-made go back to the old home to eat biscuits and marvel how much nearer to the porch the old pump looks than it used to... Thanksgiving Day... is the one day that is purely American.

Junior Boys Win But the Girls Lose

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last night, at Ashdown, the Hope Bobkittens outlasted the Ashdown Panthers for a 32-31 win in their first game of the season.

Hope presented Coach Alexander his first win as a coach, taking a five point lead late in the last quarter and then hanging on to win. With a 1-0 record now, the Kittens travel to Nashville next Monday along with the Kittycats.

Ashdown took a quick 4-0 lead early on two jump shots, before Gary Rhodes hit two pointers with 4:41 to go in the first period. Two points by Rhodes and Jimmy Smith kept the Kittens close at the close of the first quarter, trailing 11-7.

Tim Hogan opened the second period with a basket to cut the lead to two and three points by Rhodes, after Ashdown scored again, left the Kittens one point shy. However, the Kittens hit a four minute cold streak and Ashdown pulled away for a 22-13 halftime lead.

Coming out in the second half, the Bobkittens began to roll. David Huddleston opened the scoring with a basket and Rhodes then popped the net twice to trim the lead, 24-19.

Ashdown took a time out to regroup, but when play resumed Richy Trotter hit two charity shots apiece, the Kittens went into the last quarter holding a 28-25 lead.

Playing some heads-up ball in the last quarter the Bobkittens stayed alive, using some time and foul shots. Leading 32-31 with 45 seconds to go, Hope turned back Ashdown's desperate bid to score and that was it.

Rhodes' led Hope scorers with 13 points with Jimmy Smith bagging 11. Jay Barentine led Ashdown with nine points.

Earlier, although fighting down to the wire, the Hope Kittycats dropped a 22-18 decision to Ashdown in the final minute of play.

Both teams started off cold at first, before Karlene Coleman hit a free throw for a 1-0 Hope lead with 2:48 left in the first quarter. Ashdown then found the range for six quick points, before Gigi Gladney's basket brought the score to 6-3, in favor of Nashville.

Scoring on a free throw, Ashdown held a 7-3 lead at the quarter.

Neither team could score much in the second quarter either. Coleman and Gladney hit the only baskets as the Kittycats trailed at halftime, 13-7.

Hope returned in the second half and found the range quickly with Coleman and Jill Herring each scoring two points. Everyone on the court then had shooting trouble until Gladney hit three points to Ashdown's two.

Moving into the fourth period, Hope held their opponent to only one point for five minutes while Herring and Gladney each sunk two free throws to tie the game at 18 all with just 57 seconds left to play.

However, Ashdown regrouped their forces during a timeout and hit a basket and two free shots for the final margin of victory.

Hope was plagued by turnovers and cold shooting throughout the game, but that promises to improve as the season progresses.

Gladney had nine points, Coleman had five, and Herring netted four, while Carol Frazier, Mona Rowe, and Sharan Ratliff played a fine game on defense.

Officers List Data About Duck Season

The duck season opens Nov. 27 and continues through Jan. 10, 1971, with shooting hours beginning 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset each day of the hunt. The bag limit is four ducks, but hunters may not take more than two wood ducks or may take only one duck between a redhead and a canvasback. If any of these ducks are taken, they count toward the total bag of four ducks. The limit on all other ducks is four provided the daily bag limit total of four is not exceeded.

Hempstead County Wildlife Officer, Ben Waller, advises that the law now reads that it is unlawful to hunt from or on, or to shoot from or across any public road of right-of-way thereof. This law will be strictly enforced.

A gate will be erected on the duck levee at Bois d'Arc Wildlife Management Area to control traffic on the levee during wet weather. It is unlawful for vehicles with four wheels or more to travel on a road, levee, trail or dam designated as closed by signs, or to travel where no roads exist. The cooperation of area sportsmen in this matter is solicited, Gary Don Formby, Area Manager, said.

Texas leads in rushing offense with an average of 361.9 yards per game while Arkansas is ahead in passing offense with an average of 230.3 yards per game.

Arkansas leads in total defense, allowing only 242.1 yards per game and the Razorbacks have the lead in defense against the run with only 88.9 yards per game gained on Arkansas overland.

SMU's Gary Hammond continues to cement his reputation as one of the nation's top athletes. The junior tailback leads the SWC in pass receiving with an average of 4.2 catches per game. He leads in tandem offense—rushing and pass receiving—with an average of 120.4 yards per game.

Chuck Hixson of SMU is the top passer while Tech's Doug McCutchen, a sophomore sensation, has an average of 97.1 yards per game rushing to lead in that department.

Porkers Go to 5th Spot in Ratings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Ohio State replaced Notre Dame as the No. 2 team in The Associated Press college football poll today, diminishing the possibility of the Fighting Irish meeting Texas in a Cotton Bowl battle between the top two teams in the nation.

Texas, which did not play over the weekend, held onto the top spot but Ohio State's 20-9 revenge victory over Michigan vaulted the Buckeyes from fifth to second. They had started the season in first place.

Nebraska remained third with a 28-21 triumph over Oklahoma but Notre Dame's 3-0 squeaker over Louisiana State resulted in a drop from second to fourth. LSU inched from seventh to sixth by one point despite the setback.

Arkansas, heading for a Dec. 5 shootout with Texas for the Southwest Conference crown and the right to face Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, climbed one spot to fifth with a 24-10 decision over Texas Tech, which had been ranked 19th but fell out of the Top Twenty. Tennessee drubbed Kentucky 45-0 and shot from eighth to seventh.

Michigan, which saw its unbeaten dreams tumble in Ohio Stadium, slipped from fifth to eighth. Arizona State, still undefeated following a 33-21 win over New Mexico, remained in ninth place but Mississippi, idle over the weekend, rose from 12th to 10th while the Air Force went from 10th to 12th after a 49-19 blasting by Colorado.

Texas garnered 20 first-place votes and 794 points from a panel of 45 sports writers and broadcasters across the country. Ohio State received 14 votes for No. 1 and 760 points while Nebraska had six first-place votes and 718 points and Notre Dame pulled down three top ballots and 676 points. The other two first-place votes went to Arizona State.

Auburn, which also had the weekend off, jumped from 13th to 11th while Stanford, a 22-14 loser to California, went from 11th to 13th.

Rounding out the Top Twenty were Dartmouth, Toledo, Georgia Tech, Penn State, Northwestern, Colorado and Washington.

The last two replaced San Diego State and Texas Tech in the Top Twenty.

State Going to Pecan Bowl Again

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University Monday accepted a bid to meet Central Missouri in the Pecan Bowl Dec. 12 at Arlington, Tex.

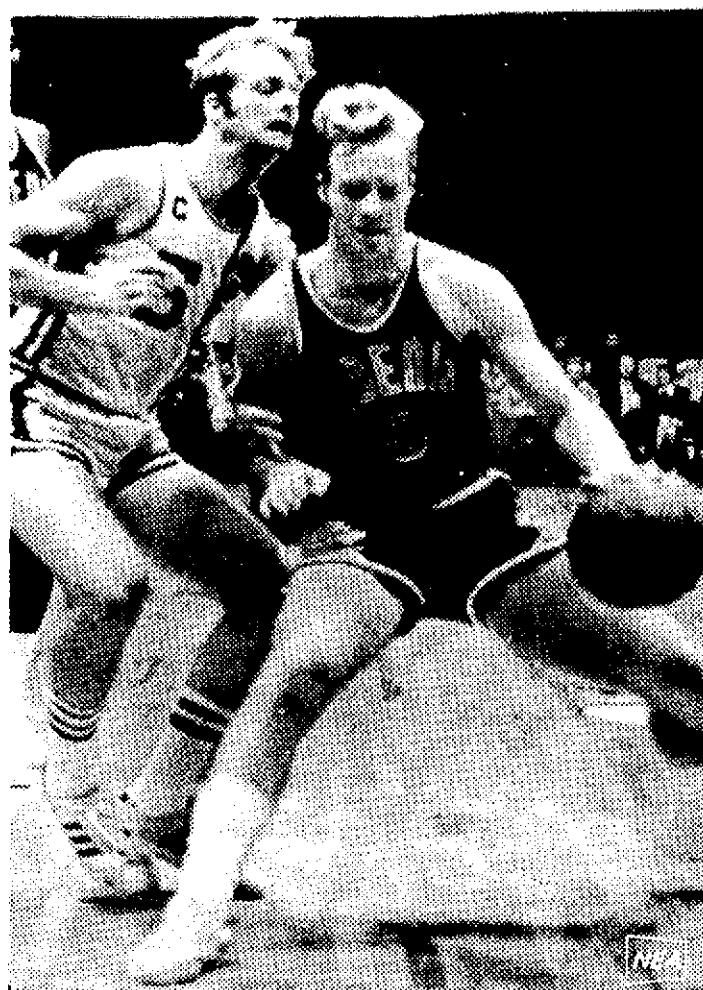

It will be the Indians' third straight trip to the Pecan Bowl. ASU, top ranked in The Associated Press college division poll, completed its first 10-0 season in history last Saturday with a 27-3 victory over Southern Illinois University. In the process, the Indians captured their third consecutive Southland Conference title.

ASU lost 23-14 to North Dakota State in the 1968 Pecan Bowl and defeated Drake 29-21 last year.

ASU Coach Bennie Ellender said the team unanimously accepted the bowl bid at a meeting Monday.

Central Missouri, co-champion of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, compiled a 9-1 record.

The game will be regionally televised by ABC.

Crippled Hogs Start Work for Texas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks Monday began preparing for the Dec. 5 showdown with Texas.

The Porkers worked for about an hour in sweat clothes. Coach Frank Broyles said cold weather limited practice to work on basic formations and moving around in an effort to keep warm.

Following the practice, Broyles discussed the Razorbacks' injury situation.

He said that guard Tom Reed may not be injured as seriously as first expected and the sophomore might be able to play against the Longhorns. Reed injured a knee Saturday against Texas Tech.

Tailback Bill Burnett went to Dallas to have a pin removed from the shoulder that was operated on three weeks ago. Doctors say Burnett can resume running immediately, Broyles said.

The Razorback coach said it would be up to Burnett to determine how much pain he can withstand and whether he will play against Texas.

The guard position, depleted by injuries to Reed, Ronnie Hammers and Mike Griffin was bolstered Monday when Broyles moved No. 2 right tackle Glen Lowe to guard.

The Porkers were to work in pads Tuesday and Wednesday with a light workout scheduled Thursday morning before the team is dismissed for Thanksgiving.

Longhorns Get Ready for Aggies

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—There's nothing wrong with Texas A&M that a little good luck, for a change, wouldn't cure, says Texas Coach Darrell Royal. But not this week, thank you.

Royal is especially concerned about how the ball bounces for the Aggies Thanksgiving when they line up against his undefeated, top-ranked Longhorns.

"I don't believe I have ever seen anybody that has had the bad things happen that they have had happen," Royal told his weekly news conference Monday. "I'm afraid we're due some bad luck and they're due some good luck."

Royal said he was "very, very concerned" about the "talk of Notre Dame, talk of Arkansas, talk of the Arkansas pep rally and all those things... The whole attitude can't help but be pushed over onto our football team."

He said while Longhorn fans make plans for "Shootout No. 2" against once-beaten Arkansas Dec. 5, the Aggies are "taking dead aim on us."

The Aggies, he said, "could adopt a go-for-broke attitude, while they can rely on us playing it close to our vests."

To make his point that A&M is much stronger than its 2-8 record would indicate, Royal said the Longhorns will be the fifth team among the top seven in the nation that the Aggies have played.

A&M whipped No. 7 LSU 20-18, was edged by No. 4 Michigan 14-10, and was blasted by No. 5 Ohio State and No. 6 Arkansas.

An A&M victory over Texas would not destroy the Longhorns' hopes of returning to the Cotton Bowl, however, as the Arkansas-Texas winner still would go.

But Royal said A&M "is in a tremendously good psychological situation because of all this other talk. It's bound to make your neck red if you're on the other side."

Eagles Upset Giants in Pro Play

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Billy Walik, whose performance was singled out by both coaches as a major factor in the Philadelphia Eagles 23-20 National Football League upset over the New York Giants, compared his job with that of a sprinter in track.

Walik, a 180-pound rookie, returns kicks for the Eagles. He carries four for 146 yards on Monday night's NFL weekly television presentation. He raced 57 yards with a second period New York kickoff to set up a subsequent field goal, and 45 yards with a third quarter return that started the Eagles toward their winning fourth period touchdown.

"It's like being a sprinter in indoor track meets," Walik said of his specialty. "In track you wait around a lot until it's time to run and then you let fly for 50 or 60 yards and hope you timed it right. In returning kickoffs, you look for the hole and try to hit it before it closes."

Coach Alex Webster of the Giants said Walik's flying feet signaled the end of his team's six-game winning streak and it helped drop New York into a second place tie with the Dallas Cowboys in the NFL's National Conference Eastern Division. The Giants and Cowboys are each 6-4, now 1½ games behind the leading St. Louis Cardinals 7-2-1.

"What hurt us most was Walik's kickoff returns which gave them great field position," Webster said in the quiet of the Giants' dressing room. The New York coach also credited the Eagles ability to control the ball in the final period with a big part in Philadelphia victory.

The Eagles tallied their winning touchdown on a 1-yard keeper play by quarterback Norm Snead 52 seconds into the final period. They killed 9:26 on the clock after getting the ball with 10:16 remaining. New York finally got it with 50 seconds left, but could get only to mid-field.

Eagles' coach Jerry Williams said Walik's returns and the ability of the Eagles' defense to contain Giants halfback Ron Johnson were the key factors for his team, which has won two and tied one in the last three games after losing the first seven. Johnson, the NFL's third leading ground gainer before last weekend's games, managed only 35 yards on 16 carries.

New York scored in the first period for a 3-0 lead on Pete Gogolak's 29-yard field goal.

The Eagles recovered a fourth down bad pass from center at the New York 1, and scored on Snead's keeper run in the second quarter to lead 6-3.

New York took advantage of a fumble recovery to go back in front on a two-yard burst by Johnson and a 29-yard Gogolak field goal made it 13-6 with 42 seconds left in the half.

Walik then returned the kickoff 57 yards leading to Mark Moseley's 29 yard field goal on the last play of the half.

The Eagles drove to a third period score, Snead passing a yard to tight end Fred Hill for a 16-13 advantage, only to have the Giants score on Tarkenton's one-yard keeper, regaining the lead at 20-16.

Then came Walik's 45-yard caper and the Eagles final TD, netted by Snead on a push from the half yard line.

Super Star of NHL, Howie, Out 2 Weeks

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wing 42-year-old super star will be out of National Hockey League action for two weeks with torn rib cartilage and a sprained rib cage.

Howe was injured in the Wings Sunday night 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers.

He fell on Flyer defenseman Joe Watson's skate after scoring his second goal of the game and had to be helped from the ice.

The record setting NHL star has a history of fast healing, missing only two games in the last six seasons. Team physicians said that the rib damage is difficult to mend, and added that it may linger longer after the two week time limit they set. Howe is being kept in a Detroit hospital.

Yarborough Switching Circuits

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer ATLANTA (AP) — Cale Yarborough, who won almost half a million dollars as one of the South's top stock car drivers, confirmed today he is switching to the U. S. Auto Club's championship circuit for 1971.

Yarborough, 31, said at a news conference here that he will join the veteran Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., in a team owned by Gene White, an Atlanta tire distributor.

"I'll be going for the national driving title," said the broadshouldered, 5-10 blond from Timmonsville, S. C. "I plan to run the entire 12-race championship series, including the three 500-mile races on the circuit."

USAC has reduced its big car series to a dozen events for 1971. The three big ones will be at Indianapolis May 29, Pocono, Pa., July 3 and Ontario, Calif., Sept. 6. Together, the 12 races will pay close to $3 million in prize money.

Yarborough, a contender in NASCAR's Grand National stock cars since 1960, said his championship schedule will not allow time for any stock car competition.

Yarborough won 14 major races on the NASCAR Grand National trail and $449,959 in prize money after getting his first ride in the Southern 500 at Darlington, S. C., when he was 17.

White, in announcing Yarborough's addition to his team, said, "Our racing organization has grown to such proportions in the past few years that we felt now was the time to add another first-line driver."

Yarborough is not without knowledge of the single-seater, open-cockpit championship cars. He ran Indy twice—in 1968 and 1969—and plans to get more experience before the season opens by running tire tests in the White cars.

Bowl Games Fairly Well Settled

ATLANTA (AP) — Ninth-ranked Arizona State University, winner of 15 consecutive games, has accepted an invitation to play in the Peach Bowl here Dec. 30.

No opponent has officially been named, although the Peach Bowl has extended a strings attached invitation to Georgia. The condition is that Georgia defeat Georgia Tech when the archrivals end their regular season at Athens Saturday.

Should Georgia, 5-4, lose to Tech, Peach Bowl officials are hopeful of landing North Carolina, 8-3, as the host team.

The invitation was extended to the Sun Devils Sunday, but Peach Bowl officials remained silent because the acceptance had to go through proper channels on the Arizona campus.

The offer was accepted Monday by Harry Newburn, the university president, and a poll of the Arizona Board of Regents indicated its approval.

In other Bowl developments, Arkansas State University and Central Missouri State will meet in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex., Dec. 12; Tennessee State University will play the university of Southwestern Louisiana in the Grantland Rice Bowl Dec. 12 at Baton Rouge, La., and Long Beach State was nominated to play Louisville in the Pasadena Bowl Dec. 19.

Marshall Spirit Holding Up After Tragedy

By CRAIG AMMERMAN

Associated Press Writer HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—A hot sun beat down on the Marshall University practice field this past August as Rick Tolley paced the sidelines with a reporter, intently watching his eager troops prepare for the upcoming season that held bright hopes.

"We'll be all right," the young head coach said then. He paused for another moment, briefly shouted instructions to a quarterback, and said: "Our boys have something unusual—it's something a little special. Call it a special kind of spirit."

Today, in Huntington, the last remains of that "special spirit" Tolley and this city were so proud of will be buried in six adjacent graves—six bodies that could not be positively identified.

The six were among 46 Marshall players, coaches and athletic staffers killed in the 75-death jetliner disaster Nov. 14. They were also part of Tolley's "special spirit"—part of a drive that had seen the 8,500-student university's football team shed a 27-game winless streak and a recruiting scandal with a young team that was promising.

On that hot August day Tolley explained that he was talking about a kind of spirit born out of "close long-time relationships."

"You know we have a lot of boys who've known each other for a long time," he said. "That will be valuable to us as time goes on."

The closeness Tolley spoke of was evident—14 of the Thundering Herd's 22 starters came to Marshall from three places. Three came from Cincinnati's Moeller High School, four were life-long friends from Tuscaloosa, Ala., and seven were graduates of Ferrum Junior College in Virginia.

All started for the Thundering Herd. All were aboard the ill-fated DC9 when it plowed into a muddy West Virginia hillside one mile short of its hilltop airport's destination the night of Nov. 14.

Among the six being buried today in a Huntington cemetery are Tom Brown, Tom Zborill and Dave Griffith Jr., all Ferrum graduates who came to Marshall.

The other geographic locations that molded the homogeneous spirit Tolley spoke so highly of that hot August day—Cincinnati and Tuscaloosa—buried their dead Saturday.

From Tuscaloosa had come Larry Sanders, a sterling defensive cornerback, fleet halfback Joe Hood, defensive tackle Robert Van Horn and end and defensive tackle Fred Wilson. They had come together to Marshall. Saturday they were buried side by side in Tuscaloosa.

Heisman Trophy Award Slated for Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Record-breaking quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Stanford and Joe Theismann of Notre Dame were rated the favorites to win the Heisman Trophy today as college football's outstanding performer.

Still another quarterback, Archie Manning of Mississippi, started the season long with Plunkett as the most touted players. But Manning broke his wrist in a game against Houston earlier this month. He has missed one game and is expected to be out at least one more.

The Heisman Trophy has been awarded annually since 1935 by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York. Of the previous 35 winners, 23 have been running backs, 10 quarterbacks and two ends—Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Notre Dame's Leon Hart in 1949.

No interior lineman has ever won the coveted trophy which this year will be decided by the votes of 1,242 electors across the nation. The balloting was to end at 9 a.m. today with the announcement of the winner due at 1 p.m., EST.

Plunkett, a 6-foot-3, 204-pounder, is major college football's all-time leader in total offense and passing yardage and is expected to be a top pro draft pick.

This season, Plunkett ranks second nationally in total offense with an average of 263.5 yards a game. In 11 games, he has passed for 2,715 yards and 18 touchdowns.

Theismann is third and Manning ninth in total offense. Of the three quarterbacks, Theismann has the best completion average, Plunkett the most yards and touchdown passes.

College Cage Season Opens Next Week

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The college basketball season opens a week from today and in the East Regional, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Massachusetts are expected not only to dominate but also contend for national honors as well.

The East Regional, as defined by the NCAA for its postseason national championship tournament, includes the Ivy League, Atlantic Coast Conference, Southern Conference, Mid-Atlantic Conference and the Yankee Conference.

This is the season South Carolina is expected to atone for its upset loss to North Carolina State in the final of the 1970 ACC championship tourney.

The Gamecocks had been picked as the No. 1 team in the country in The Associated Press preseason poll, but despite a 25-3 season record, didn't make it to the NCAA tourney because of their defeat by N.C. State in two overtimes in the ACC final.

South Carolina has four starters back, John Roche, Tom Owens, Tom Riker and John Ribbock and Coach Frank McGuire says, "We will have a strong team that will be capable of going all the way."

The same can be said of Penn. Coach Dick Harter of the Quakers has all five starters back—Corky Calhoun, Bob Morse, Jim Wolf, Dave Wohl and Steve Bilsky. Last year they went into the NCAA tourney with a 25-1 record, but were upset by Niagara in the first round.

Like South Carolina, the Quakers are determined to make up for that slip this season.

The return of Julius Erving is what makes Massachusetts a standout in New England and the Yankee Conference. Only a junior, the play of Erving, who toured Europe with the U.S. Olympic development team last summer, delights Coach Jack Leaman. U Mass was 18-7 last season.

Temple and St. Joseph's again are expected to duel for the Mid-Atlantic Conference title while Davidson again is favored in the Southern Conference.

Army and Villanova, 22-5 and 22-7, respectively last year, loom as the best in the independents. St. Bonaventure, with Bob Lanier graduated, and Niagara, with Calvin Murphy also a graduate, will have off seasons.

No wonder Coach Lou Holtz observed later, "I'm numb!" And he was. A soft drink slipped right through his hands without his ever feeling it.

"Well," said an unnamed player, "there's our fifth fumble... only this one didn't hurt."

Greetings, friends, and a Happy Thanksgiving to you all! The football schedule for this week is a little on the thin side—um-kumph! However, what it lacks in quantity it more than makes up for in quality.

Two of the season's tastiest treats are in store for you on Turkey Day as mighty Texas and dangerous Texas A&M clash in Austin, and the Rebels of Mississippi and the Mississippi State Bulldogs battle on the Rebels' home field.

In the Longhorns-Aggies contest, your correspondent foresees a Texas triumph after a fierce struggle, 27-15. In a free-scoring affair, The Hoople System forecasts a Mississippi win over the State lads, 32-21.

And Thanksgiving night, on the magic lantern, you will be treated to a spectacular show as Houston and Florida State go right down to the last gun, with Houston gaining a narrow 29-26 victory!

Sharing the spotlight on Saturday will be the Army-Navy classic, the annual Notre Dame-Southern California clash, and the traditional, intrastate battles featuring Alabama vs. Auburn and Georgia Tech vs. Georgia.

In the Service showdown at Philadelphia, I look for Army to squeeze by the Midlands, 16-13. For two straight years, the N.D.-USC games have finished in a tie but not so this year, as the Irish rally to edge the Trojans, 35-21—har-rumph!

The Hoople System gives a slight edge to Georgia Tech over Georgia, 17-10, and Auburn to win over 'Bama, 21-12, in a pair of crowd-pleasers. The Hoople Upset Special of the day will find Iowa State upending the up-and-coming San Diego State eleven, 22-20!

And now, kiddies, enjoy the holiday and don't eat too much turkey. For relaxation, read the rest of my forecast, it will astound you.

There is a popular belief that a great bridge player will know where every card is after a few cards have been played.

This is a good story, but it has little foundation in fact. Once in awhile, the expert will get to know where every card is, but on most occasions the best he can do is get a very good idea. This is especially true when his opponents refuse to help.

West opens the 10 of spades against South's normal three no-trump contract. South proceeds to count to only eight tricks. He can make several more in the heart suit, but West will establish his spades first.

However, there is no harm leading his seven of hearts. West may duck with the ace and king that he surely holds, but West rises with the king and plays the ace and another spade. East discards a low heart.

Now it is up to South to go after the minor suits. He starts with the diamonds. If the suit breaks 3-3, he will get a fourth diamond trick. It doesn't. A careless West discards the deuce of hearts on the third diamond.

At this point, expert South can claim three no-trump. He knows West needed both the ace and king of hearts for his opening bid. He has also shown up with six spades and two diamonds. Therefore, West cannot have started with more than two clubs. South plays out dummy's ace and king of clubs and then finesses against East's jack of clubs with certainty of success.

An alert West can spoil South's sure thing by discarding a spade on the third diamond. Now South won't know if West started with two hearts and three clubs or three hearts and two clubs.

Body's Waste Disposal System Is Remarkable

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

It is surprising how many people think they must have one "satisfactory" bowel movement a day. This simply is not so. If the diet contains very little bulk, this isn't necessary.

A bowel movement is stimulated by pressure in the rectum. The stool is propelled to the rectum by rhythmic contractions of the colon. The distention initiates the reflex responsible for the sensation of the call to stool. If the sensation is ignored the reflex stops acting. A larger volume and more distention of the rectum is then required to initiate the call to stool. The stretched, insensitive rectum then responds irregularly to large, often hard stools that are passed with pain and difficulty.

In extreme cases a large, often dry stool builds up in the rectum and causes "impaction of the bowels." This condition has to be relieved by the physician manually breaking up the impaction and removing the stool. Of course, local disorders, such as severe hemorrhoids, can contribute to the problem, but more often than not the hemorrhoids are a result of poor bowel habits.

The call to stool reflex is often initiated by a complex mechanism caused by the stomach being distended with food or fluid. This is why many people have a bowel movement shortly after breakfast.

Whether a stool is hard or soft is usually related to how fast it is moved through the colon. The leftover bulk after digestion in the small intestine is expelled into the colon in the right lower region of the abdomen. The material is then in a semi-liquid state. It is propelled around the horseshoe-shaped colon to the left side and to the rectum by the rhythmic contractions of the colon. On the way, water is extracted from the stool until it is converted to its formed shape. If the colon is contracted or in spasm, small "pencil-like" stools are formed.

A tumor in the right side of the colon increases the speed of moving the stool. Since the stool in the right colon is liquid it does not cause bowel obstruction but causes diarrhea. A tumor in the lower colon or rectum can cause obstruction. Any recent unexplained change in bowel habit that is persistent should require a complete examination, since this is one sign of a tumor. Many tumors of the colon can be cured if treated early.

The frequency and size of the bowel movements are related to what a person eats, how much they eat, their physical activity, habits and emotional patterns.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have had constipation trouble for many years. Now I take a cup of lukewarm buttermilk the first thing in the morning and about an hour before breakfast. It works like a laxative. Is there any harm in taking a cup of buttermilk every morning if it relieves constipation?

Dear Reader—No. Buttermilk will not hurt you. It is a lot better than taking a lot of harmful laxatives and becoming a victim of the laxative habit.

Khrushchev Led Fight to Dishonor Stalin

NEW YORK (AP) — As premier of the Soviet Union, Nikita S. Khrushchev led the campaign during the 1950s to dishonor the name of Joseph Stalin. Reminiscences attributed to him by Life magazine renew his denunciation but say Stalin's second wife kept Khrushchev alive so he could rise to power.

The first of four installments, published in the magazine's Nov. 27 issue, describe Stalin as a brutal man and murderer of millions who became unbalanced during World War II. He distrusted everyone, his inner circle distrusted him and each other, and as early as 1923 Lenin wrote that Stalin had the requisite qualities for leadership but was not above abusing power, the article says.

The reminiscences say Stalin had an insatiable capacity for alcohol and permitted thousands of Russians to starve because he thought pleas for help were plots against the state.

The reminiscences are being published later in book form by Little, Brown & Co.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported last week that Khrushchev said the memoirs were a fabrication, and he was indignant at this. "It was the first time Khrushchev had been quoted in the Soviet media since he was ousted in 1964 by Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin.

Ralph Graves, managing editor of Life, said the magazine had spent a year verifying the authenticity of the manuscript. "We had to be sure that what we had was not a fabrication," Graves wrote in a foreword. He said the editors expected a repudiation from Moscow.

Now 76, Khrushchev has had heart trouble since last June and has been hospitalized twice recently. He lives in seclusion in a villa 15 miles from Moscow.

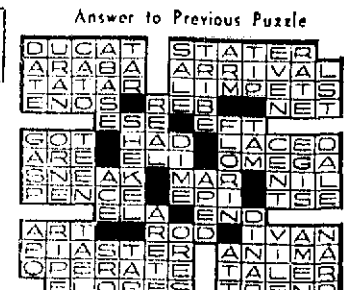

Khrushchev, according to the publication in Life, says Stalin's excesses, "unpleasant as they may be," must be spelled out for "the self-purification of our party."

"What I say is not slander, and it's not malicious gossip... As a witness to (the Stalin) years, I address myself to the generations of the future, in hope that they will avoid the mistakes of the past."

The recollections also express concern because "a few of our influential military leaders... are trying to whitewash Stalin and put him back on his pedestal. They're trying to prove that if it hadn't been for Stalin, we would never have won the war against Hitlerite Germany. The reasoning behind this sort of claim is stupid. "Just because Stalin isn't around any more, does that mean we will succumb to German or English or American influence? Of course not. The Soviet people will always be able to produce leaders and to defend our country against invaders, just as we've always defended ourselves in the past."

The article accused Stalin of causing disastrous crop failures throughout the Soviet Union in the early 1930s, then liquidating those around him as being responsible for the famine. It says that during the great purges of the 1930s, Stalin murdered millions of persons, including some of the country's greatest military tacticians.

"Honest, loyal Leninists, devoted to the cause of the Revolution— they were the first to go when Stalin imposed his arbitrary rule on the party," the article said. "We have no choice but to rehabilitate all of Stalin's victims... All those who perished should not only be given back their names; they should be presented to the people as martyrs of the terror waged by Stalin."

The slaughter of military bosses who Stalin thought wanted to overthrow him reduced the effectiveness of the Soviet army when Germany attacked, the article charged.

Khrushchev survived the purges, the article says, because he was teaching Communist party dogma at the Moscow Industrial Academy to Nadezhda Sergeyevna Alliluyeva, Stalin's second wife who committed suicide in 1932.

"I stayed alive while most of my contemporaries, my classmates at the Academy, lost their heads as enemies of the people," the article says. "I've often asked myself, 'How was I spared?' I think part of the answer is that Nadya's reports helped determine Stalin's attitude toward me. I call it my lottery ticket. I drew a lucky lottery ticket when it happened that Stalin observed my activities through Nadezhda Sergeyevna. It was because of her that Stalin trusted me.

"In later years he sometimes attacked and insulted me; but right up until the last day of his life he liked me. It would be stupid to talk about this man loving anyone, but there's no doubt that he held me in great respect."

Reports Are Mitchell Is Resigning

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS television News quotes sources close to the Nixon administration as saying that Atty. Gen. John M. Mitchell plans to resign and that his departure is "only a matter of timing."

In Washington, the Justice Department categorically denied the report aired Sunday night.

Other reports last week said that Nixon was planning to reshuffle several cabinet posts including the secretaries of the treasury, interior and housing and urban development.

Farmers Are Reassured by Bumpers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. elect Dale Bumpers assured members of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation Monday that he would not lose sight of the dual nature of the state's economy.

He told the federation's 36th annual convention that since the beginning of the 1920s, Southern states put on a campaign to bring industry in because they could not depend on agriculture alone as a source of new income.

Since then, he said, there "is a danger that we may regard ourselves as an industrial state to the detriment of agriculture."

He said that agriculture would not be "short-changed" during his administration.

The governor-elect reiterated the problems that he and his staff are having setting up a budget for the state. He said that it would take a miracle for him to be as popular after the legislature adjourns as he was on Nov. 3 because he must find a way to come up with $150 million without a tax increase.

He told the group he knew of the Farm Bureau's interest in roads in the state and said he was "not locked in or out" on the possibility of a bond issue to finance road construction. He said he would have to keep an eye on the going interest rate and the funds available from the federal government for matching funds.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., told the group Monday night that the net income of the average farmer has increased only about 3 per cent in the past 20 years.

He said during the same period the farmer's cost of production has risen 50 per cent. McClellan said in 1969 the average farmer's income was only about 75 per cent of the average city worker.

He said that he did not want to see Arkansas become "over industrialized" but industry must be attracted to the state in order to balance the economy.

Jerry L. Wilson, left, a graduate of the University of Arkansas, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Autrey Wilson, reside at Hope, has been cited for "Special Act and Service" in enhancing the prestige of the U.S. Army Mobility Equipment Research and Development Center, Fort Belvoir.

He is shown being congratulated by Colonel Bennett L. Lewis, Commanding Officer, who presented him with $100 and a Department of the Army certificate for authoring a paper, "Army Tests Its Environmental Control Units," which he presented at the Virginia Academy of Sciences meeting in Richmond and which was published in the June issue of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers' magazine. Mr. Wilson received a B.S. Degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University in 1961; served in the Army and has been employed since 1963 at the Center, which is responsible for research, development and engineering for round-the-clock mobility in some 15 fields of military engineering ranging from environmental control units to water purification equipment. He resides with his family at 5424 Gainborough Drive, Fairfax, Va.

Testimony in Pipeline Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony was to continue today at a hearing before the Federal Power Commission on an application by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. to build a 300-mile pipeline into the Anadarko Basin in Texas and Oklahoma.

Geologists and lawyers argued Monday about how much gas might lie beneath the basin in the Oklahoma and Texas panhandles, where Arkla is trying to obtain new gas supplies for customers in Arkansas and four other states.

Opponents of the pipeline are questioning Arkla's ability to get enough gas in the basin to justify spending an estimated $105 million on the project.

Arkla says it must obtain vast new supplies of gas from the deep formations of the Anadarko Basin in order to continue its present level of service to industrial customers. The utility's natural gas reserves are being depleted and officials say that existing fields in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma are not sufficient.

Edward F. Wroblewski of Oklahoma City, a geological consultant whose speciality is the Anadarko Basin, testified Monday that the potential gas reserves in an area that he calls the "Deep Anadarko" Basin are 60 trillion cubic feet, which he said made it one of the major gas supplies in the world. He said this was a conservative figure and that the true reserve could reach 100 trillion cubic feet.

The area described as the Deep Anadarko Basin is about 180 miles long and 50 miles wide, running from Central Oklahoma, through the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles. Arkla wants to build a pipeline from Hemphill County, Tex., to connect with the western end of its existing line at Wilburton, Okla., which serves Arkansas.

Communists Condemn the Air Strikes

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China again today condemned U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam and said Peking is keeping an eye on developments in Indochina.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, declared in Moscow that the bombings constitute "an old policy of continuing and widening aggression" that is "a strategy of impotence and despair." All major Soviet newspapers printed a statement from Tass, the news agency, denouncing the raids as renewed aggression and provocation.

Peking and Moscow began a chain of bitter criticisms of the United States soon after the strikes were announced Saturday. The Pentagon called them "protective reaction" following North Vietnam's downing of an

Following the second morning service on Sunday the members of First Baptist Church held dedication ceremonies for the new church bus in front of the Sanctuary.

W. H. Peterson, Jr., Chairman of the Bus Committee, presented the keys to the bus to Pastor Gerald W. Trussell as Jim Hart, music and education director, Albert Zimmermann, church training director, and Hubert Thrash, Sunday school director looked on.

Brother Trussell led the prayer of dedication, thanking God for those making the purchase of a new bus possible and pledging its use as an outreach ministry of First Baptist Church in this community.

Since its arrival a little over a week ago the bus has already transported a large group of Royal Ambassadors, a boys missionary organization, and their sponsors to a week-end retreat at Spring Lake Baptist Camp near Hot Springs and a bus load of adults to the Thursday session of Arkansas Baptist State Convention held in Little Rock last week.

No Trouble Expected at Cummins

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver said Monday that no further trouble was expected at Cummins Prison Farm.

State Police withdrew from the prison Monday after 75 heavily armed troopers had taken control of the institution Saturday night during the height of three days or racial fights among inmates.

The fights involved about 500 of the prison's 1,160 inmates. Fifteen to 20 inmates were injured, none seriously, during the three days of sporadic fighting. No shot was fired but staff guards at the prison fired tear gas into one barracks early Saturday night to break up a brawl.

Early Sunday morning, troopers sprayed Mace into an isolation ward where eight to 10 inmates were trying to cut their way through a ceiling.

Sarver said the situation was under control Monday and inmates reported for work Monday morning.

Sarver said he had seen much worse incidents at prisons but said "we were very, very lucky that we did not have a tragedy."

The trouble at the prison began at noon Friday when fist fights broke out between black and white inmates who demanded that work details and prison facilities be segregated. Sarver said that the prison, which was desegregated in April under court order, would remain desegregated. "We're still totally integrated — all barracks and work details," he said.

American reconnaissance plane. Observers saw no threat of direct intervention in the Peking broadcast but considered it a pledge to continue supplying military equipment.

In the statement broadcast by the New China News Agency, the ministry said President Nixon has been continuing and expanding aggression. "His so-called era of negotiation is but to cover up aggression under the camouflage of negotiation," the statement said.

Threatens to Quit SS Post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr says passage of a congressional proposal to broaden the grounds for conscientious objection might lead to his resignation.

The proposal would exempt from the draft young men who claim their consciences are against a particular war, such as the Vietnam conflict.

In a taping for a television show made public Monday, Tarr said such exemptions would so complicate his job "that I'll give it up if anybody wants it."

He said the proposal would make it nearly impossible to separate those "who have a problem of conscience from those who have a problem of politics."

Ky Arrives Quietly at White House

By JIM LUTHER Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky's quiet arrival for today's White House meeting with President Nixon came in sharp contrast to the shouted protests that resulted in the cancellation of an earlier trip to Washington.

Following the White House breakfast session, Ky's schedule had him seeing Henry Kissinger, top White House adviser on national security matters, followed by a rare session with newsmen.

Although several antiwar groups announced plans to demonstrate against Ky's appearance at the National Press Club, advance criticism fell far short of the uproar of the aborted earlier visit.

Ky, his wife and small official party arrived at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., Monday after a weekend in Williamsburg, Va.

Because the Washington visit is a private one, no U.S. officials were on hand to greet the Ky party. Madame Ky was presented roses by Madame Bui Diem, wife of the Vietnamese ambassador.

Ky arrived in the capital about the time Defense Department officials were disclosing U.S. forces had raided an abandoned prisoner-of-war camp near Hanoi in North Vietnam.

An aide to Ky said the vice president was taken by surprise by the disclosure.

Ky had accepted an invitation from the Rev. Carl McIntire to attend a "march for victory" rally here last Oct. 3. However, he canceled the visit after several congressmen and antiwar leaders protested.

McIntire, a New Jersey evangelist, accused the Nixon administration of "high-level international blackmail" in pressuring Ky to cancel out.

Ky has spent much of the past week touring U.S. military bases.

Raids Approved by Wives of Prisoners

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Two wives of men downed over North Vietnam, have praised the attempted rescue of American prisoners. "Marvelous and daring," said one. But the other wondered what may happen to the captives now.

"I'm stunned, frightened and still excited," Sharon Abbott said Monday after Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced a group of Army and Air Force volunteers had staged an unsuccessful raid on a POW camp near the North Vietnamese capital.

"I'm fearful of what might now happen to the men," she added, "and at the same time, I'm glad because if they learn about the raid it will give them great reassurance."

Her husband, Air Force Maj. Wilfred K. Abbott, has been held captive in North Vietnam more than 51 months, she said at her home in suburban University City where she lives with her sons, Michael, 10, and Steven, 8.

A few blocks away, Sandie Dennison, who has not heard from her husband, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Terry Dennison, since he was shot down over Vietnam in 1966, said:

"It was a marvelous and daring attempt by the men who volunteered for the mission. I hope that somehow the men will hear about it."

No Comment on Use of Missiles

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command refused to comment today on speculation that North Vietnamese surface-to-air missiles—the SAMs supplied Hanoi by the Soviet Union—have been fired recently at U.S. B52 bombers attacking the Ho Chi Minh trail near the border between Laos and North Vietnam.

An American military spokesman said no B52s have been lost to enemy fire, but he declined to say if any had been fired on.

Because the B52s fly at 30,000 feet, the SAMs are the only anti-aircraft weapon in the North Vietnamese arsenal that might hit them.

The speculation that SAMs may have been fired at B52s over Laos stemmed from information given in Washington about the U.S. raids on North Vietnam last weekend.

Officials said the main targets were missile and anti-aircraft gun positions and stockpiles of war materials on approach routes to the Mu Gia and Ban Karai passes between North Vietnam and Laos, and on other routes to the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said the purpose of the strikes was to protect the lives of American pilots flying reconnaissance over North Vietnam and also those "flying missions associated with interdiction of North Vietnamese military supplies throughout southern Laos moving toward South Vietnam."

This raised the possibility that the enemy had fired on the B52s as well as smaller U.S. fighter-bombers. Both fly missions against the enemy supply traffic through Laos.

North Vietnamese missile batteries were first moved into Laos nearly a year ago. Six SAM launch sites were observed in the area where the Mu Gia Pass, a major North Vietnamese supply route, enters the Laotian panhandle. Fighter-bombers attacked the missile sites after three SAMs were fired at a flight of B52s.

The U.S. Command spokesman also refused to say whether any of the giant Stratofortresses participated in the weekend raids on supply depots in North Vietnam. He referred newsmen to Laird's statements, which did not specify the types of aircraft that made the strikes.

In the war today, only ground skirmishes were reported in South Vietnam, and the U.S. command said field reports indicated there were no American battlefield deaths Monday. It was the third day this month that no Americans were reported killed in action.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault troops captured the district headquarters in Puok, in the northwestern part of the country. The town is 11 miles northwest of Siem Reap on Highway 6, the road from Siem Reap to the Thai border and Siem Reap's only remaining land route to the rest of the country. A spokesman said the battalion defending Puok reported 31 of its men wounded.

Would Link Exams for Driving

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Medical Society House of Delegates Sunday approved a resolution recommending that applicants for driver's licenses be compelled to take a medical examination if preliminary tests reveal the possibility of physical defects.

The group, meeting Sunday in Little Rock, also adopted a resolution supporting legislation that would place all the state's tuberculosis control programs under the state Health Department's division of communicable diseases.

The physicians also recommended that five general hospitals around the state be equipped to treat tuberculosis patients. Long - range plans for the program included tuberculosis treatment centers at five hospitals and chest clinics in 14 counties that do not already have such facilities.

Under the proposal, the treatment centers at the five general hospitals would be patterned after a facility at Jefferson Memorial Hospital in Pine Bluff. The tuberculosis sanatorium at Booneville would be phased out in about three years.

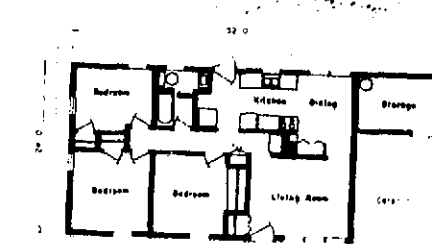

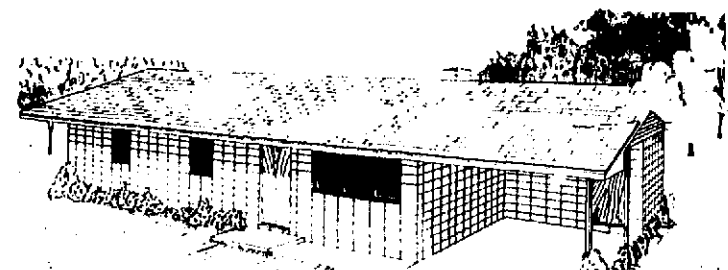

Patients at the Pine Bluff hospital are usually discharged after about 30 days to continue taking prescribed drugs at home.

Dr. W. Duane Jones of Booneville, the medical director at the sanatorium, contended that difficult cases require longer hospitalization. He also said it was hard to get many people to take medicine and follow doctor's orders when they are not under close supervision.

Dr. Jack Kennedy of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Medical Society, said that by using the system of treating tuberculosis in general hospitals, the disease might be completely eradicated in 10 years.

THREE BEDROOM HOUSE WITH FALLOUT SHELTER

This small three bedroom concrete block house designed by the Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service provides a compacted living area in a minimum amount of space. The living area is 960 square foot. Storage and carport area is 288 square foot. The construction is concrete block on a concrete slab floor which incorporates perimeter insulation.

The storage room can be made into a fallout shelter if desired. This fallout shelter, if built as shown in the plan, will provide a minimum amount of space required for four or five people and provide a protection factor of approximately 50.

Each of the bedrooms are moderate in size with minimum closet space in each bedroom. The kitchen, dining and living room is one large area with the kitchen and dining area shielded from the living area by a cabinet wall.

The continuous roof provides a low, pleasant silhouette with stack concrete block walls. This concrete block construction was designed to provide the maximum comfort and space for the least investment.

Detailed working drawings of this plan, No. 657501, may be obtained free of charge from the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension Office.

GM Hikes Prices on All Models

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM

Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors has announced an average $24 increase in the price of new cars—on the same day its new contract with the United Auto Workers went into effect.

The firm said Monday the increase, which applies immediately, represents an average boost of seven-tenths of 1 percent in the manufacturer's suggested retail prices.

Based on the nearly 4.5 million cars GM sold last year, the increase will cost American consumers $107.6 million a year.

The new increase comes on top of an average $139 price hike announced when GM's new models were introduced in September.

The new model introduction came as a strike by the UAW was in its second week and the latest increase came just as GM was gearing up to resume production.

The first new cars built since Sept. 14 were scheduled to begin rolling off GM lines today.

A GM spokesman noted that when 1971 prices were first announced the firm said the amount of increases was tentative and that the ultimate prices would depend on the outcome of the strike and other economic factors.

GM said the new price increases will be as much as $40 on some models, while some station wagon prices are reduced by $18.

The $2,091 price of the subcompact Vega 300 remains the same.

Increases will not apply to orders placed during the strike based on the old price lists.

However, persons who ordered models on which the price has been reduced will receive a refund.

GM's initial price increase was the smallest among the Big Three automakers. At new model introduction time, Ford Motor Co. announced an increase averaging $153 and Chrysler Corp. raised prices an average of $143.

The UAW currently is negotiating new contracts with Ford and Chrysler, with a Dec. 7 strike deadline in effect at Ford.

It is not yet known whether the eventual new contracts, expected to be similar to the GM pact, will cause those firms to raise their prices further.

3 Americans Killed in Air Collision

SAIGON (AP) — A light U.S. and a South Vietnamese helicopter collided in the air in the Mekong Delta today and first reports said 3 Americans and 14 Vietnamese were killed.

"There were no survivors," an officer in the field said.

The collision occurred near Binh Thuy air base about 80 miles south of Saigon.

Field reports said the Army Beaver, a single-engine utility aircraft, had just taken off from the base.

Farm Belt Senators Hold Strategy Session Over Trade Issue

Nixon May Have Court He Wants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has given its first clear indication that President Nixon may be able to count on his kind of criminal law decisions.

A 6-3 ruling Monday on the first important criminal case of the term upheld guilty pleas from defendants who insist they are innocent.

In what may become a pattern, the three solid liberals remaining from the Warren court found themselves in a losing bloc. They are William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall.

The case was the first important vote for Justice Harry A. Blackmun, who sided with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and the five other justices.

The ruling dealt with a Winston-Salem, N.C., man, Henry C. Alford, who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in 1963 rather than face a jury and a possible death sentence on first-degree murder charges.

Alford insisted he was innocent but was pleading guilty only to rule out a death penalty. He was sentenced by the judge to 30 years.

The Supreme Court decision keeps him on a North Carolina prison farm instead of in a courtroom fighting at a new trial for his freedom. The U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., had held Alford was entitled to a new trial.

Plea bargaining is a useful technique for cutting down on trials and the bother they cause. Whether such pleas are really voluntary is a subject that has divided lower courts.

Brennan, Douglas and Marshall said pleas like Alford's are a product of duress and should not be accepted. But the majority, through Justice Byron R. White, called that argument "an exercise in arid logic."

Man Found Dead Near Springdale

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Denver Skaggs, 29, of near Springdale was found dead about 100 yards behind his home Monday, Sheriff Bill Long of Washington County said.

Police said Skaggs apparently died from a skull fracture and it was believed a tree had fallen on him.

Man Already at Mercy of Things He Created to Be More Comfortable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Neither too much wine nor the pains and pangs of old age bring out the worst in a man's personality as much as having to drive in crowded traffic when he's in a hurry to get somewhere. Yet man persists in making his inventions his gods—the automobile, the airplane, plastics, the computer—and in the end they may destroy him by making him too neurotic to endure. Already he is at the mercy of things he created to make his life more leisurely and comfortable.

The dullest conversation possible this time of year is that between two suburbanites discussing the troubles they have getting to and from work in bad weather—and the new ways they plan to attack crabgrass next spring.

One of the mysteries of life is why so many secretaries fall in love with their boss when they know so much more about him than his wife does.

Experience is like a second-hand car. You may regard it as valuable but you can never sell it at a profit to anyone else.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm Belt senators concerned about the future of U.S. agricultural exports called a strategy session today with allies from manufacturing states in an attempt to block a House-passed trade bill.

At stake, they say, are 700,000 jobs and $6.6 billion worth of farm exports annually.

Adding to their concern was a Monday statement by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler that talks between the United States and Japan had produced little encouragement for voluntary restraint of textile imports into this country.

Textile and shoe imports are two prime targets of the trade bill, passed 215 to 165 by the House Nov. 19. The measure also would freeze the present system of oil import quotas, set tariff-rate quotas on mink fur skins and some chemicals and set up a formula of tariffs or quotas on foreign products that

Sharp Jump in the Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in October took the sharpest jump in six months, the government reported today.

The rise of six-tenths of one percent appeared to dash White House hopes that the nation's worst inflation in 20 years was easing.

The Labor Dept. report—made at the same time that the average pay of some 45 million rank and file workers dropped 33 cents a week to $121.03 because of a drop in the work week, and inflation cut purchasing power 2.5 percent below a year ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, the source of the living costs report, said the only break for consumers in October was a drop of three-tenths of one percent in grocery prices.

The report followed by one day these other developments affecting the economy:

—The Federal Home Loan Bank disclosed plans to pump more than $1 billion into the slumping home mortgage market, to drive down interest rates next year.

—The Committee for Economic Development (CED), composed of industrial and financial leaders, called for a return to voluntary wage and price guidelines to help curb inflation.

Nevertheless, guideposts should be developed by the existing National Commission on Productivity or a presidentially appointed board, said the business research organization, and excessive wage settlements or price boosts should be publicized in advance, where possible.

"It should be clearly understood that what we are advocating are voluntary wage-price policies," said the CED. "We are opposed to mandatory controls, except in the event of a major war."

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board's chairman, Preston Martin, said the first allotment of $85 million to break the high interest chain should be available soon.

The money will be funneled through the board's new quasi-public arm, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., to buy up federally guaranteed mortgages, doubling the current amount, and thereby freeing more money to lending home buyers.

The effective interest rate to borrowers must go down, he

There is plenty to be grateful for this Thanksgiving Day. For example, in a noisy world half the pianos in America bought by parents to instill music in their children relapse into silence within six months and become simply pieces of living room furniture. The only sounds they make are when they're dusted.

Spending Bill Veto Upheld in Senate

By WALTER R. MEARS

AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has upheld President Nixon's rejection of a bill curbing campaign broadcast spending, the first time in more than five years the chamber has sustained a presidential veto.

Supporters of the measure pulled together a 58-34 margin to override Thursday, but still fell four votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

The action left Congress with a presidential promise of an ambitious package of political reforms for action next year.

Nixon vetoed the bill on grounds it plugged only one hole in a sieve when comprehensive repair is needed.

Nixon promised the administration would work closely with Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott and other members of Congress on a broader reform bill—but gave no assurance he would endorse the final product.

The assistant Democratic Leader, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, said he hopes the administration will embrace an over-all campaign reform bill.

Kennedy said there may yet be an effort to revive the vetoed broadcast measure this year by adding it to other legislation.

Scott acknowledged he has only ideas, no draft of legislation.

Welcome News to Slow Inflation in Relaxing Home Mortgage Rates

By JOHN STOWELL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, who wants to expand the economy and shrink inflation, has heard some welcome news and unwelcome advice on how to accomplish both.

The Federal Home Loan Bank disclosed plans Monday to pump more than $1 billion into the slumping home-mortgage market to drive down interest rates next year, a decision that fell on gladdened administration ears.

Not so pleasing was the call by the Committee for Economic Development, composed of industrial and financial leaders, for a return to voluntary wage and price guideposts to help curb inflation.

The President and his economic advisers have considered and rejected such an idea as unworkable and worthless.

Nevertheless, guideposts should be developed by the existing National Commission on Productivity or a presidentially appointed board, said the business research organization, and excessive wage settlements or price boosts should be publicized in advance, where possible.

Temperatures this morning were hovering around the 10-degree mark in the northwest portion of the state and in the teens and low 20s elsewhere. A high centered over Eastern Oklahoma is responsible for the bitter cold.

However, the high should drift eastward today and Wednesday and temperatures should begin to rise.

Temperatures today were expected to climb into the upper 30s and low 40s, but lower wind velocities will take some of the bite out of the cold. Highs Wednesday should be in the upper 40s to upper 50s.

No rain has fallen in the state during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. and none is mentioned in the forecast for today and Wednesday, but another cold front approaching from the northwest may produce precipitation Thursday or Friday.

Tornado Damage Is $30,000

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — Harley True, Civil Defense director for Benton County, said Monday a tornado that touched down in the county last Thursday caused an estimated $25,000 to $30,000 damages.

The roofs were blown off several houses and two trailer homes were blown off their foundations in Spilam Springs.
